

INTRO [Host Note: Use the following example or extrapolate on your own 'Streamergency' (aka Streaming Emergency)]

- We've all been working remotely more often these days, and for me that means A LOT more video conferencing.

If you've ever been on a one of these calls where the audio is cutting out and everyone is struggling to hear and see each other because the internet stinks then you my friend, have experienced a STREAMERGENCY

BODY

But let me tell you, It doesn't have to be this way. What if you could use more than one internet connection at the same time? Like the hotel or coffee shop Wi-Fi AND the cellular data connection on your phone for their combined speed and reliability.

Speedify is the only app that can combine multiple internet sources into one bonded super-connection to improve livestreaming, video calling, gaming, web browsing, and everything else you do online.

- Runs in the background, simple to use
- Lets you combine any number of Internet connections for better performance
- Available on all of your devices (PC, Mac, iPhone, Android - even Linux)

But that's not all! At its core, Speedify is also a VPN which means it encrypts all of your web traffic to improve privacy and security.

CALL TO ACTION

So what are you waiting for? Get Speedify and say goodbye to Streamergencies for good.

Download Speedify today at speedify dot com

That's s-p-e-e-d-i-f-y dot com